DETAILED ACTION

1. This Office action is responsive to the following communication: Amendment filed on 6 November 2006.
2. Claims 26-73 are pending and present for examination. Claims 26, 54, 63, 64, 69 and 73 are independent.

Response to Amendment

3. Claims 26, 54, 63, 64, 69 and 73 have been amended.
4. No claims have been cancelled.
5. No claims have been added.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

6. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.
7. Claims 26-73 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the disclosed invention is inoperative and therefore lacks utility. Claims 26, 54, 63, 64, 69, and 73 recite a method of "intercepting all write commands that are directed to the original data store during a substantially continuous time interval, thereby accumulating backup data that enable restoration of the original data store to any point in time during the substantially continuous time interval." The present invention, as claimed, would be inoperative since "a substantially continuous time interval" would denote a time interval wherein gaps are present and it is possible that any write commands made within said gaps would not be intercepted. Therefore, it is possible that all required backup data for restoration would not be accumulated. Hence, without the required backup data, restoration of the original data store "to any point in time" would not be enabled since the "point in time" may be directed to a gap of time within the "substantially continuous time interval" wherein the interception of write commands was missed.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 26-73 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

9. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
